

REMARKS

Claim 52 has been amended to include the subject matter of claim 51 and 52. Except for the Section 101 rejection, the Board determined that claims 51 and 52 contained allowable subject matter.

Claim 50 has been amended to overcome the Section 101 rejection and to comply with In re Bilski, 545 F.3d 943 (Fed. Cir. 2008). For example, claim 50 has been amended to call for accessing the website hosted by a server associated with a medical care provider from a client computing device via a communications network. See Spec. p. 4, line 22 through Spec. p. 5 line 9; Spec. p. 6 ll. 16-20, and Figure 1.

Claim 50 has also been amended to call for displaying the array of prescription medical supplies on a display connected to the client computing device. See Spec. p. 6 ll. 16-20. In addition, claim 50 has been amended to include identifying the prescribed medical supply by activating one or more links displayed on the display. See Spec. p. 6 ll. 16-20. Furthermore, claim 50 has been amended to include submitting an electronic payment from the client computing device through an e-commerce provider to pay for the prescribed medical supply. See Spec. p. 6 line 22 through Spec. p. 8 line 2. Finally, claim 50 has been amended to include electronically routing an electronic payment to the medical care provider that prescribed the medical supply. See Spec. p. 6 line 22 through Spec. p. 8 line 2.

Also note that claim 50 in the paragraph that begins “ordering the medical supply” has been amended to include all of the limitations found in claims 51 and 52.

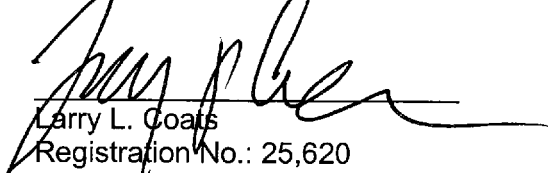

Claim 62 stands rejected only under Section 101. It has been amended in many respects along the lines that parallel the amendment to claim 50. For example, the claim now calls for “via a communication network, providing access from a client computing device having a display to a computer server hosting the website associated with the medical care provider....” This same paragraph includes the provision for “for display to a user operating the client computer device.” In addition, the claim calls for receiving at the server hosting the website associated with the medical care provider, an electronic order for the medical supply. Finally, the claim calls for receiving an electronically routed electronic payment for the medical supply ordered from the website associated with the medical care provider.

It is respectfully urged that the present application now complies with Section 101 and In re Bilski. The Examiner is respectfully requested to allow the present application.

While no fees should be required for entry of this response, if any fees or charges are required, the Office is hereby authorized to charge them to Deposit Account 18-1167.
